The taxpayer applies the same process in case it finds out, that its tax loss shall be higher than last known tax loss (Section 38n, subsection 2 of the Act, in connection with Section 141, subsection 1 of the Administration of Taxes Act).

This tax liability is considered as tax liability arisen till the date of processing of the proposal for diversification of remaining assets (§ 240c, subsection 4 of the Administration of Taxes Act). A supplementary tax return needs to be filed on a printed form issued by General Financial Directorate, which is to be marked in its heading as "additional" (item 03). Item 03 should also indicate the date of recognition of the facts leading to filing of a additional tax return.

Information in relevant rows of the Part II is to be filed in total amounts, not only differences against the original amounts of changed information. These changes against the last known tax or last known tax loss are to be indicated only in Part IV of a additional tax return according to partial instructions to its filing.

If the taxpayer does not fulfill this call in the given time-limit, a tax administrator may assess the tax according to materials and information (Section 145, subsection 2 of the Administration of Taxes Act).

Corrective Tax Returns

- 27) Before the expiration of the time-limit for filing a tax return the taxpayer may replace an already filed tax return by a corrective tax return (Section 138, subsection 1 of the Administration of Taxes Act). In further proceedings this corrective tax return is decisive and previous tax return should not be taken into account. This procedure may be used also while replacing of supplementary tax returns or already filed corrective tax returns (Section 138, subsection 2 of the Administration of Taxes Act). Information in relevant rows of the Part II is to be filled in a corrective tax return in total amounts, not only in amounts of differences against the original amounts of changed information.

Tax Arrears and Penalties

- 28) A taxpayer (tax debtor) is in default if it does not pay the tax amount or the advance tax amount by the due date (Section 252, subsection 1 in connection with Section 153, subsection 1 of the Administration of Taxes Act).

The default interest amount is comparable to the annual amount of repo rate determined by the Czech National Bank, increased by 14 %, payable of the first day of the relevant calendar half-year. Late charges are only applicable for up to 5 years default, for advance payments up to due date of the prepaid tax. If there is an alternative due date for the tax, the default interest amount starts to run as from fifth working day following its original due date (Section 252, subsection 2 and 4 of the Administration of Taxes Act).
- 30) The default interest amount is not imposed and the taxpayer is not obliged to reimburse it, until it exceeds CZK 200 in one taxable period or period, for which a tax return is filed (Section 253, subsection 1 of the Administration of Taxes Act).
- 31) The tax payer is further obliged to pay any penalties for the amount of subsequently assessed tax that was determined contrary to the last known tax, with the exception of a tax base and taxes or tax losses subsequently assessed pursuant to a supplementary tax return in the amount of 20 %, if the tax is increased, or
1 %, if the tax loss is reduced

Penalty is due on the same date as additionally assessed tax (Section 251 of the Administration of Taxes Act). The penalty is to be calculated on the basis of the amount of tax as it would be determined in comparison with the last known tax, provided that higher amounts of deductible items (pursuant to Section 34, Section 38p of the Act) were not (in the framework of procedure to assess the tax ex officio) additionally applied.

Penalty for late tax statement

- 32) If the tax return or supplementary tax return has not been filed on time, although it should have been, or has been filed after the legal time-limit, and this delay exceeded 5 working days, the taxpayer is obliged to pay the following penalties for late statement:
– 0,05 % of the assessed tax for each of the subsequent default days, but not more than 5 % of the assessed tax,
– 0,01 % of the tax loss for each of the subsequent default days, but no more than 5 % of the tax loss (Section 250, subsection 1 of the Administration of Taxes Act).

If such calculated amount is lower than CZK 200, it is not prescribed and the taxpayer is not obliged to pay it (Section 250, subsection 3 of the Administration of Taxes Act). If the taxpayer does not file the tax return or additional tax return in the specified time period, the upper limit of the scale (pursuant to § 250, subsection 1) will be used for calculating the fine. The fine in this case is at least CZK 500 (Section 250, subsection 4 of the Administration of Taxes Act). Penalty is due to 30 days from the date of payment order notification, which is used by a tax administrator for purpose of determination about a penalty for late tax statement (Section 250, subsection 6 of the Administration of Taxes Act).

The amount of the penalty is halved if a taxpayer files the proper tax return or supplementary tax return within 30 days from futile expiration of a period for its filing and in the given calendar year a tax authority did not find out, at a tax subject and in the period of issue of payment assessment, another delay in filing the proper or supplementary tax return (§ 250 subsection 7 of the Tax Code).

Rows 20 to 70

On rows 20 to 70 are stated amounts that increase profit, or rather the positive difference between income and expenditure (row 10). If the trading result is a loss or the difference between income and expenditure is negative, these rows state the amounts that reduce the loss or rather the negative difference between income and expenditure (here in after in the instructions “amounts increasing the economic results or the difference between income and expenditure”).

A taxpayer that is public beneficial taxpayer (§ 17a of the Act) only fills in these rows in the event that it is necessary to set out the trading result or difference between income and expenditure, stated on Row 10. It also proceeds in a similar manner on rows 100 to 170.

Row 20 On this row state the total of the amounts unjustifiably curtail the income and the value of non-monetary income that it is necessary to include in the tax base if they are not included in the trading result or in the difference between income and expenditure on row 10.

Row 30 The total amount that is stated on this row is, on a separate attachment, broken up according to the individual points of Section 23, subsection 3, letter a) of the Act, with the exception of income included into the amount on row 20 and expenditure (costs) included in the amount on row 40.

- Row 40 On this row state the sum of the differences by which expenditure applied in the accounting (see Accounting Class-expenses) exceeds the expenses (costs) incurred to generate, assure and maintain income (hereinafter "tax expenses") pursuant to Sections 24 and 25 of the Act, with the exception of the difference by which the accounting depreciation exceeds the tax write off of the tangible and intangible assets, which is shown separately on row 50.
The total amount shown on this row also includes the amount of insurance premium for social security, State employment policy and health insurance contributions, paid by the employer and which was not paid by the stipulated deadline (Section 24, subsection 2, letter f) of the Act) and also the aggregate of the purchase prices of units in the trading company in connection with income pursuant to Section 20b and Section 36, subsection 2, letters e) and f) of the Act. On this row also state the value of any gratuitous transactions made in the period for which the tax return is filed, including any gratuitous transactions defined by Section 20, subsection 8 of the Act, whose possibility of deduction from the tax base can be applied farther on, on Row 260.
The total amount on Row 40 must be the same as the amount on Row 13 of Table A in Attachment 1 to Part II.
- Row 50 State the total difference by which the aggregate depreciation of tangible and intangible assets (Section 26 of the Act) applied in the accounting exceeds the aggregate depreciation of these assets determined pursuant to Section 26 to 33 of the Act. In the opposite case use Row 150.
- Row 61 This row is only filled in by taxpayers who are going into liquidation and who are according to Section 23 of the Act obliged to adjust the trading results for the part of the taxable period up to the date of going into liquidation. For those taxpayers who keep accounts, the amount on this row will include the balances of created legal reserves and adjustments (so called reserves and allowances whose creation was allowed as a tax expense) the balance of pre-paid revenues and the pre-paid expenses, which will not be verifiably accounted for in the winding up period, on the assumption that this adjustment has not already been reflected in the trading results on row 10. It is then necessary to break down the total amount of this row into individual items on a special Attachment.
- Row 62 It is possible to use this row in other cases not mentioned on rows 20 to 61 where it is necessary, for the correct determination of the tax base, to increase the trading result on Row 10. It is necessary to write the actual use of the amount shown on this Row either straight into the empty space provided for the name of the item or if it includes more items, on a separate Attachment. For instance, in relation to the provisions of Section 20, subsections 5 and 6 of the Act, where the taxpayer is an associate of a general partnership or the general partner of a limited partnership, he puts here the difference between his share in the trading results and the share in the tax base, or possibly of the tax loss of the general partnership or limited partnership if this balance is positive (the amount increases the trading result). If this balance is negative, it is shown on Row 162 (amount that decreases the trading result).

On Rows 100 to 170 show the amounts that reduce profit or rather the positive difference between income and expenditure (Row 10). Rows 200 to 360

- Row 200 If the taxpayer is an associate of a general partnership or a general partner in a limited partnership, a part of its tax base or possibly tax loss, is its own proportionate share of the tax base or tax loss belonging to the general partnership or limited partnership. This proportion at an associate of a general partnership corresponds with the proportion with which an associate participates in a profit of a general partnership, and the proportion at a general partner in a limited partnership corresponds with the proportion with which a general partner participates in a profit of a limited partnership

- Row 201 State the proportion of the tax base or tax loss from Row 200 that belongs to the general partners.
- Row 210 State the total income (revenue) from sources in abroad, for which, pursuant to signed international agreements on the prevention of double taxation, the method of exemption from the tax base (tax loss) is claimed if they are a part of a worldwide tax base (tax loss) on Row 200. The segmentation of the amount shown on this row must be supported by the list of the verification of the foreign tax authorities (Section 38f, subsection 10 of the Act) or in the case of isolated income from the foreign resources by the verification of the foreign tax authority (Section 38f, subsection 4 of the Act), according to the individual contracting states, which were the source of the exempted income.
- If the taxpayer is an associate of a general partnership or a general partner in a limited partnership, the amount shown on this row will also contain its proportionate amount of income from sources abroad that flow to the general partnership or limited partnership, which in accordance with the Agreements on the prevention of double taxation is exempt from taxation, and is included in the tax base shown on row 200. This proportion at an associate of a general partnership corresponds with the proportion with which an associate participates in a profit of a general partnership, and the proportion at a general partner in a limited partnership corresponds with the proportion with which a general partner participates in a profit of a limited partnership. On a separate annexe then show an allocation of the total amount from this row into the part that relates to the general partnership or limited partnership and the part relating to the taxpayers own business activities.
- Attention:
- For the purpose of eliminating of double taxation of income, the concept “income from sources in abroad”, means income (revenue) coming from sources in abroad, which is subject to taxation there in accordance with a signed international agreement, reduced by the connected expenditure (expenses) determined pursuant to the local Income Tax Act. It is not possible to use foreign legal regulations for deductible items and tax allowances in the determination of the tax base. When using the method of exemption, the income from sources in abroad, is exempted from the tax base before applying the deductibles to the tax base (rows 230, 240, 241, 242, 243, 251 and 260). If it is not possible to verifiably determine if some expenditure (expenses) is connected with income (revenue) coming from abroad then their part, determined in the same proportion as the income (revenue) coming from abroad and not reduced by expenditure (expenses) that belongs to the worldwide income (revenue), is considered to be connected expenditure (expenses).
- For the purpose of exemption from taxation, individual amounts of income from sources abroad that are claimed in the taxpayer's accounting (Section 38, subsection 1 of the Act), are converted to Czech crowns using the exchange rate for the foreign exchange market issued by the Czech National Bank. For the conversion of currencies that are not shown on the Czech National Bank's foreign exchange list, conversion using a third currency applies. Taxpayers who kept single-entry accounting after 1 January 2016 may convert the individual amounts of income from sources in abroad, for the purpose of their exemption from tax, to Czech crowns by using a uniform rate defined in Section 38, subsection 1, of the Act if they do not use the foreign exchange market rate pursuant to special regulations on accounting.

- Example of the calculation of the amount shown on this row when declaring negative numbers on rows 200, 201 and 210:

Table E The deduction of a tax loss from the Tax Base pursuant to Section 34, subsection 1 of the Act.

This table is filled in by a taxpayer to whom, in the given taxable period or period, for which a tax return is being filed, eventually if five immediately preceding taxable periods, a tax loss has arisen, which may be claimed as an item deductible from the tax base pursuant Section 34, subsection 1 of the Act.

In column 1 and in the prescribed form, state the time limit for the taxable period or the period for which the tax return was filed, in which the tax loss was declared.

In column 2 state the total amount of the tax loss assessed for the taxable period or the period for which the tax return was filed, as stated in column 1. State, on the relevant row in column 2, for the taxable period or the period for which the tax return was filed, the amount of the declared tax loss.

In columns 3 to 5, in accordance with the stipulated computation, state the amounts of the deductions that relate to the assessed tax loss shown in column 2.

If it is not possible, in the taxable period or the period for which the tax return is being filed, a significant change takes place pursuant to Section 38na of the Act, and under the conditions stated in these provisions, to deduct the assessed but not claimed tax loss from the tax base, in a comparable taxable period or period for which the tax return is being filed, the relevant rows in column 4 stay blank. The assessed but not claimed tax loss or part thereof which it was not possible to deduct from the tax base for the taxable period or the period for which the tax return is being filed, will be shown in column 5; in cases where in the following taxable period or period for which the tax return is filed, it will no longer be possible to deduct the assessed but unclaimed tax loss from the tax base, write nil (0) on the appropriate row in column 5.

With the taxable period or the period for which the tax return is being filed that begins in the year 2015, the time-limit for claiming a tax loss arisen and assessed for the taxable period or period for which the tax return is being filed commenced in 2011 as items deductible from the tax base in the following five taxable periods. Therefore, if on relevant rows in column 2, there is a tax loss that arose in the taxable period or period for which the tax return is being filed commenced in 2011 which may be claimed as a deductible item in the following five taxable periods, then the nil (0) is stated on these rows in column 5, even if this possibility was not fully utilised in the previous taxable periods.

A remaining part of a tax loss arisen and assessed for the taxable period or period, for which a tax return is filed, commenced in 2016, may not be used for deduction from a tax base for the taxable period or period, for which a tax return is filed, commenced in the year 2010.

Table F Deduction pursuant to Section 34 of the Act

F b) Application of the deduction to support research and development from the tax base pursuant to § 34 subsection 4 and § 34a to 34e of the Act

Table is filled in by a taxpayer, who in the given period or in the preceding one, but at the most in three taxable periods or periods, for which a tax return is being filled, expended money (expenses) for the realisation of research and development projects, which can be applied as a deductible item from the tax base pursuant Section 34, subsections 4 up to 8. The table is also used to show expenditures (costs), incurred during the implementation of research and development as amended by the Act effective to 31. 12 2013, that has not been claimed yet.

Column 1 – on the particular rows show in the specified form downwardly time delimitation of the taxable periods or periods, for which tax return is being filled, in which the claim to deduction to support research and development arose
In the last used row there will be shown the oldest taxable period or period, for which tax return had been filled, in which the claim to deduction pursuant to § 34 subsection 4 of the Act, and at the same time the possibility of its use did not expired pursuant to § 34 subsection 5 of the Act, in the row 1 the given taxable period or period for which tax return is being filed.

Column 2 – on the used rows show the total in the taxable periods or periods, for which tax returns are being filled, mentioned in column 1.

Columns 3–5 – according to given procedure show the process of a use of the entitlement for a deduction from a tax base pursuant Section 34, subsection 4 of the Act.

The entitlement can be applied in the three following taxable periods or periods, for which tax returns are being filled, but only in respect of the terms defined in Section 34, subsection 5 of the Act. In the taxable period or period, for which the tax return is filed, commenced in 2016, the time-limit for claiming of unused entitlement for deduction of expenses (costs) on realization of research and development projects expires pursuant to Section 34, subsection 6 of the Act, incurred for the taxable periods or periods, for which the tax returns were filed, commenced in 2013. Therefore if on row 1 column 1 an entitlement for deduction of expenses (costs) on realization of research and development projects incurred for the taxable periods or periods, for which the tax return was filed, commenced in 2013, which was possible to apply as deductible item from a tax base in the three following taxable periods, is stated, the nil (0) is shown in column 5 of this row, even if the possibility of deduction in three preceding taxable periods or periods, for which the tax returns were filed, was not fully used.

A taxpayer that is a limited partnership divides the entitlement for a deduction between the general partner and the limited partnership in the same proportions as the profit and loss are divided. Taxpayer states in column 2 on row, where the entitlement for a deduction is for the given taxable period or period, for which tax return is being filled ejected, part of this entitlement for a deduction found for the limited partnership and reduced by the proportion of the entitlement that belongs to the general partner. The break down of the entitlement is shown on Row 4 of Table J.

If the taxpayer is an associate of a general partnership or the general partner to a limited partnership, the amount stated in column 2 on row, where the entitlement for a deduction is for the given taxable period or period, for which tax return is being filled ejected, will also include the proportion of the entitlement for a deduction pursuant Section 34, subsection 3 of the Act, found for the general partnership or the limited partnership. The proportion to the claim to deduction for an associate of a general partnership corresponds with the proportion with which an associate participates in a profit of a general partnership, and for a general partner in a limited partnership corresponds with the proportion with which a general partner participates in a profit of a limited partnership. A separate attachment then shows the break up of the part relating to the general partnership or limited partnership and the part relating to the taxpayer's own business activities.

Column 1 – in the particular rows show in the specified form downwardly time delimitation of the taxable periods or periods for which the tax return is being filed in which the claim to deduction to support vocational education arose. In the last used row there will be shown the oldest taxable period or period, for which tax return had been filled, in which the claim to deduction pursuant to § 34 subsection 4 of the Act, and at the same time the possibility of its use did not expired pursuant to § 34 subsection 5 of the Act, in the row 1 the given taxable period or period for which tax return is being filed.

In column 5 in row 5 show the total amount of the unused claim to deduction from a tax base. The claim can be applied in three following period or periods, for which tax returns are being filed, but only with respect of the terms defined in § 34 subsection 5 of the Act.

The claim of deduction at limited partnership is splitted between general partner and limited partnership in the same ratio, in which is splitted loss or profit. Taxpayer will state in column 2 on row, on which is stated the claim of deduction for the taxable period or the period, for which is submitted tax return, the part of this claim of deduction ascertained for limited partnership, reduced of the proportion part of the claim attributable to the general partner. The splitted claim will be stated on the row 3 of the table J.

If the taxpayer is a partner of general partnership or the general partner of limited partnership, the amount stated in column 2 on row, on which is stated the claim of deduction for the taxable period or period, for which is submitted tax return, includes proportional part of the claim of deduction pursuant to Section 34, subsection 4 of the Act, ascertained for general partnership or limited partnership. The proportional part of the claim of deduction at partners of general partnership corresponds to the ratio, by which the partner participates on profit of general partnership, in the case of general partners of limited partnership the claim corresponds to the ratio, by which the general partner participates on profit of limited partnership.

On special attachment there will be stated its division on part relating to deduction for general partnership or limited partnership and on part relating to own business activity of taxpayer.

Table G Total value of gratuitous transactions which is possible, pursuant to § 20 subsection 8 of the Act, to apply as the deduction from the tax base reduced pursuant to § 34 of the Act

On Row 1 of the Table state the total value of gratuitous transactions made by the taxpayer for the purposes defined in Section 20, subsection 8 of the Act, i.e. i.e. Gratuitous transactions that correspond to applied discounts on partial contribution from lotteries and other similar games even if the sum total of the amount of these gratuitous transactions is higher than the tax base declared on Row 250, but at the least CZK 2,000 which is the minimum statutory value of a gratuitous transactions.

If the taxpayer is a limited partnership, it may, for the purposes of a deduction, claim from the total of the made by it, the highest amount belonging to the partners (Section 20, subsection 10 of the Act), calculated on Row 4 in column 3 of Table J.

Row no. 2 (Act no. 188/2016 Coll.) shall not be applied for taxable period begun in 2017.

If the taxpayer is a limited partnership, on this row, show the amount belonging to the partners (Section 20, subsection 10 of the Act), calculated on Row 9 in column 3 of Table J.

It is also possible to claim the deduction for part of the taxable period, for which the tax return is being filed.

When calculating the amount of the value of the gratuitons transactions which it is possible to deduct on Row 260 of Part II, pursuant to section 20 subsection 7 of the Act as amended till 31 December 2016, proceed in accordance with the following computation:

Row	Item heading	In CZK
1	Total value of all gratuitous transactions made for the purposes defined in Section 20, subsection 8 of the Act, for a deduction from the tax base reduced pursuant to Section 34 of the Act (Row 1, Table G, Attachment no. 1 to Part II)
2	The value of gratuitous transactions in the amount of applied discounts on partial contribution from lotteries and other similar games

4	10 % of the amount on Row 3
5	Value of gratuitous transactions that may be claimed from Row 1, after the elimination of the value of gratuitous transactions from Row 2 (amount from Row 2 at the most up to amount on Row 4)
6	Value of gratuitous transactions that may be claimed from Row 2: (amount from Row 2 at the most up to amount on Row 4)
7	Value of gratuitous transactions claimable on Row 260 of Part II in total: (Row 5 + Row 6, i.e. up to maximum of the amount on Row 3)

Table H Allocation of the total entitlement of tax reliefs (Section 35, subsection 1 and Section 35a or Section 35b of the Act) that may be claimed on Row 300

On Rows 1 to 4 of the Table, state the details of the statutory entitlement for claiming tax relief pursuant to Section 35, subsection 1 of the Act, even if, on Row 220, a tax loss is declared or it will not be possible to fully utilise this entitlement, considering the amount of the tax declared on Row 290 of Part II.

and 2 For the calculation of an entitlement for tax relief pursuant to Section 35, subsection 1, letter a) of the Act, what is decisive is the average converted number of disable employees, minus the severely disable employees, in the taxable period, rounded off to two (2) decimal points (Section 146, subsection 3, of the Administration of Taxes Act).

For the calculation of a relief pursuant to Section 35, subsection 1, letter b) of the Act, what is decisive is the average converted number of severely disable employees in the taxable period, rounded off to two decimal points (Section 146, subsection 3 of the Administration of Taxes Act). It is also possible to claim tax relief, pursuant to Section 35, subsection 1, letters a) and b), of the Act, for the period for which a tax return is being filed. In the calculation of the average annual conversion of the number of disable employees pursuant to Section 35, subsection 2, of the Act, use, as the divisor or possibly the denominator of the fraction, the full annual fund of working time pertaining to one employee, working full time, that is stipulated by statutory provisions, even if the period for which the tax return is being filed, is shorter than an uninterrupted length of twelve months.

If the tax return is to be filed for a taxable period of longer than twelve months or for an economic year taxable period or for a part of a taxable period, whose beginning and end fall into different calendar years, the total amount of the tax reliefs is determined as a sum of the partial allowance amounts, calculated independently for each of the parts of the taxable periods that fall into different calendar years. In the calculation of the partial amounts of reliefs, proceed pursuant to Section 35, subsection 2, of the Act in such a manner that for each calendar year or part thereof that falls into the period for which the tax return is being filed, use, as a divisor or possibly the denominator in a fraction, the full annual fund of working time pertaining to one employee, working full time, that is stipulated by the statutory provision of the relevant calendar year.

Taxpayers, who are associates of a general partnership or the general partners in a limited partnership or possibly limited partnerships, claim the relevant tax relief in an amount equivalent to only the proportion by which the tax base fixed for the general partnership or limited partnership is divided between them.

Example of the calculation of the tax relief amount when employing disable employees:

An employer, in whose workplace a 40 hour working week is stipulated, employed 3 disable employees (A, B, C) without a more severely disability (with DP without SDP) and 2 employees, (D and E) with a severely disability (with SDP) during the taxable period of the calendar year 2016, in which the annual working hours fund that makes up full time employment was, in a period of 252 days, 2016 working hours, with the following usage of the annual working hours fund:

Employee	with DP without SDP			With SDP
Number of hours according to relevant employee's schedule of working time or individually negotiated working hours and the length of employment; from which is not included into the length of employment due to:	2016	2016	1176	1764	1260
- Maternity or Parenting leave	0	0	0	0	0
- Long-term release for performance of public office	0	0	0	483	0
Non-worked hours due to unexcused absence at work (employment)	0	0	16	0	0
Non-worked hours due to non worked-up time-off granted by the employer work without compensatory wage and in case when employee could not do his work due to important personal reasons	296	0	0	0	0
Non worked hours due to temporary health inability or quarantine, for which it does not appertain a refund of a wage, salary or remuneration or reduced wage or reduced remuneration for period of temporary labour inability or quarantine pursuant to special legal provision or health benefit from health insurance except for hours not actually worked falling on first three days of temporary labour inability, when a refund of wage or salary does not appertain to an employee	0	56	0	0	195
Adjusted number of hours	1720	1960	1160	1281	1065

*) Employees A, B and C were employed for a 40 hour working week; employee C began work on 1st June 2016

) Employee D was employed for a 35 hour working week

) Employee E was employed for a 25 hour working week

The calculation of the average annual converted number of employees with DP without SDP:

The number of hours for disable employees without SDP according to relevant employee's schedule of working time or individually negotiated working hours and the length of employment reduced by the non-worked hours due to time-off granted by the employer work without compensatory wage and in case when employee could not do his work due to important personal reasons and temporary work disablement or quarantine, for which the refund of wage, salary or remuneration or reduced salary or reduced remuneration not belongs for the period of the temporary disablement or quarantine pursuant to special legal provision or health benefit from the health insurance except for hours not actually worked falling on first three days of temporary labour inability, when a refund of wage or salary does not appertain to an employee.

The average annual converted number of disable employees without SDP

$$= \frac{\text{the total annual working hours fund pertaining to one employee, working on a full time basis, stipulated by special legal regulations}}{2016} = \frac{4840}{2016} = 2.4007 \text{ rounded off to } \boxed{2.40 \text{ employees}}$$

The calculation of the allowance for disable employees without SDP $2.40 \times 18\,000 = \boxed{\text{CZK } 43,200}$

The calculation of the average annual converted number of employees with SDP:

The number of hours for disable employees without SDP according to relevant employee's schedule of working time or individually negotiated working hours and the length of employment reduced by the non-worked hours due to time-off granted by the employer work without compensatory wage and in case when employee could not do his work due to important personal reasons temporary work disablement or quarantine, for which the refund of wage, salary or remuneration or reduced salary or reduced remuneration not belongs for the period of the temporary disablement or quarantine pursuant to special legal provision or health benefit from the health insurance except for hours not actually worked falling on first three days of temporary labour inability, when a refund of wage or salary does not appertain to an employee.

The average annual converted number of physically handicapped employees with SPD

$$= \frac{\text{the total annual working hours fund pertaining to one employee, working on a full time basis, stipulated by special legal regulations}}{2016} = \frac{2346}{2016} = 1.1636 \text{ rounded off to } \boxed{1.16 \text{ employees}}$$

The calculation of the relief for employing severely disabled employees (SDP): $1,16 \times 60\,000 = \boxed{\text{CZK } 69,600}$
